GOVERNOR SIGNS REVISED LAWS ENABLING ACT

The inaction that has marked the senate's business the last week came to an end today when the governor attached his signature to senate bill No. 17, creating Act 7. This puts the new revised laws of 1915 into effect and the many pending measures which in one way or another propose amendments to the existing statutes can now be enacted.

Despite the fact that the enabling act became law only this morning the lower branch of the legislature has been passing many amending bills the last week or ten days. Members of the senate think this is quite irregular and that to guarantee the legality of such measures they should go back to the house for passage a second time, after the new revised laws have come officially into existence.

The governor yesterday signed house bills 48 and 52, as Acts 5 and 6. The first appropriates $900 for home-stand roads in the Hanalei district on Kauai, and the second sets aside a site on Maunakea street, Honolulu, for the territorial marketing division.

SELF-RELIANT HOME DOCTORS

Is what women are called who, all over this broad land, make their annual collections of roots and herbs, and rely upon recipes which our pioneer mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these recipes Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successful has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use does not reside.—Adv.

MOILILI QUARRY GIVES CITY TROUBLE AGAIN

City Engineer Whitehouse experienced another Moilili rock quarry rumpus yesterday when Superintendent Hurley demanded another job. Hurley was made a road luna and Noah N. Kauhane, a former government road foreman, was made successor.

Immediately upon taking office Whitehouse's latest rock quarry appointee began to make things hum by discharging all who met with his displeasure. The discharged men flooded the offices of the mayor and the city engineer was called in to explain. Whitehouse finally adjusted the trouble by ordering Kauhane to reinstate all the discharged men.

ANOTHER CRUISE IN PACIFIC DREAM OF MRS. LONDON

Wants to Go Through South
Seas in Small Boat Like
"The Snark"

"The dream of our lives is to make another cruise around the world in a small boat like the Snark," says Mrs. Jack London, again a daily frequenter of Waikiki beach. Jack London is as great a water sport as ever and spends every afternoon at the Outrigger club, where he receives callers after his mornings of literary seclusion.

Mr. London says the Snark is now a labor recruiting vessel in the South Seas, but he intends to build another if he can ever overcome the lure of Hawaii and get back to the mainland. He and Mrs. London have just finished a four-months' cruise in the yawl Roamer, around the bays and rivers of California.

Mrs. London has prepared the "Log of the Snark" for publication. This differs from the "Cruise of the Snark" in that the latter is a collection of related essays, while the former is the actual log kept with the exception of the time spent in Hawaii. It will appear first in the Mid-Pacific magazine, beginning next month, and will come from the publishers in book form this fall.

A TIP FOR WISE YOUNG MEN

"It is really wonderful how fresh and good those Orange Blossom candles are."

This exclamation has passed the lips of more than one pleased patron of the Honolulu-Drug Company since they became local agents for these famous confections.

"It's no secret," says Morgan, the manager, "we have a specially built case for the keeping of candles, and we get them fresh."

"A new assortment arrived this morning by the Lurline."

You wise young fellows: Come in—get a nice large box; go out to your girl's house; take her out on the porch; get in the hammock; both munch chocolates and enjoy the tropical nights—you'll both be pleased with your party.—Adv.

PLANTERS OPPOSE ARTESIAN WELL BILL

That the bill offered in the house of representatives by Isenberg to regulate the construction and use of artesian wells conferred "higher-than-thou" powers on the superintendent of public works was the almost unanimous complaint of a score of planters and other owners of wells who visited the public hearing of the house agricultural committee on the measure yesterday.

Manager James Gibb of Honolulu plantation declared that regulation wasn't necessary because scientists had informed him that the underground supply of Hawaii was fed from Siberia or Japan, but this scientific report was doubted by other speakers, who declared that an underground lake was responsible for the wells. Manager W. W. Goodale of Wai'alua declared that the present statutes were sufficient to regulate the wells.
